Sagredo Palace and Art Treasures Left Personally to Cardinal Cavallari.

BY LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY. E VERY tourist from this side of the Atlantic who has visited Venice knows the Sagredo Paiwhich line the Grand those which line the Grand Canal. The last of the counts of the ancient house of Sagredo, which has played so notable a role in the history of Venice, a house which has furnished Venice, a house which has furnished a pontiff to the papacy and a saint to the church, left it on his demise to his only child and sole hetress, Dona Maria Socalia. She has just died without issue, and has left the Sagredo Palace, as well as her very large for-tune, and all her art treasures, not to the church, but personally to Cardinal Aristides Cavallarl, patriarch of Venat the time when Piux X, became Pope, and one of the first things that the new pontiff did after his elevation to the chair of St. Peter, was to visit to Rome, to raise him to the rank of bishop and archbishop, and to Venice, which he himself has just vacated.

Cavallari was taken completely by surprise when the Holy Father, dur-ing the course of a private audience, informed him of the honors in store lowed to remain on as a mere parish priest at Venice, declaring that he was so poor that he had no means whatsoever of maintaining the dignity, not even of defraying the expenses incidental to his consecration, admitting that his entire fortune consisted of omething under $20.

Piux X, was aware of this. For he knew that Father Cavallari devoted almost every cent of his meagre sti poorest of his parishioners, and spent the week-end in Richmond as that he even went hungry for their the guest of friends.

It is sub-jecting the doctrine of ex-territoriality to an altogether undue strain, to assume that the aboutment which the envoy thus occupies at the Coburg Hotel, constitutes United States territory, as such exempt from all English jurisdiction, civil, criminal, municipal, and even sanitary, or that it af-fords the same haven of refuge to his countrymen as an embassy, the site and building of which, owned by the United States government, would be in every sense of the word Ameri

Apropes of diplomatic immunities they have recently been stretched to the limit in Paris, by the ambassade recalled by his government, has left a perfect army of unpaid tradesmen, who, having been prevented by reason of his diplomatic rank from suing him in the French courts for his unpaid bills or from attaching his be-longings, are now clamoring at the French Department of Foreign Af fairs on the Quai d'Orsay, for inter-vention in their behalf. They have received but small satisfaction. For all that the French government has been able to do is to recommend them to sue the debtor in the courts of his own country, where he has now beer reduced to the rank of an ordinary cit-

It is only fair to his country to say that he is not a diplomat by training or profession, but one who secured the ambassadorship by political manocuvres. It is all the more sary to state this, since his recall was quietly requested by the French gov-ernment, owing to the fact that he had given his name as prosident to a financial enterprise of his own coun-try. This concern floated a loan in Paris, by means of which it obtained some 15,600,000 of francs from small French investors, and then came al-most immediately to grief, the entire affairs turning out to be a barefaced

The general manager and several of the directors, Frenchmen some of them, who were not protected by diplomatic immunity, are in Jail in France; but it was in possible for the

Now that he is no longer an envoy, steps are being taken to bring him to book, for the purpose of compelling him to show whether he was merely foolishly indiscreet in accepting the presidency of a concern about which he knew nothing or whether he was a party to and a beneficiary of the frauds.

Mrs. Asquith, wife of the British remier, has every reason to be satis fied with the manner in which her husband is looking after the members of her family. Her eldest brother has been raised to the peerage as Lord Glenconner, and has been each year appointed to the office of the King's high commissioner at Edinburgh, where last month he throughout an entire fortnight hold viceregal court at the Palace of Holyrood, with chamberlains and aides-de-camp, purse-bearers and chapiains for himself and maids of honor for his wife.

Mrs. Asquith's younger brother, Harold Tennant, who, formerly Asquith's private secretary, was last year appointed to the $5,000 a year Under Secretaryship of State for the War Department, in succession to Colonel Seeley, now War Minister, has now been still further promoted to the lucrative governorship of Ceylon, with a salary and allowances of some $60. 000 a year, a palace in Colombo, fully furnished by the government, and a similiarly splendid country seat up in the highlands of the island, also the highlands of the island, also equipped and maintained by the State. In accordance with precedent, Har-old Tennant will become Sir Haro'd before he leaves England to take up his appointment, and will receive a knight commandership of the Order of St. Michael and St. George. His wife was formerly Miss Margaret Abraham, of Rathgar, County Dublin, and of Rathgar, County Dublin, and achieved considerable note as an authority on questions of female labor in factories, which won for her a gov-ernment appointment as inspector of factories.
